ORBITal launch

Add a little luxury to your treatments.

Applying warmed products to the face or body keeps the client relaxed, makes the product more effective and enhances the total experience to create a luxurious treatment. It can be difficult to keep product at a consistent temperature which is where the ORB from SPAPLIANCE comes in.

The ORB heats product accurately and safely and maintains the temperature continually and perfectly for up to one hour, so that every brush full of product is perfect every time and at every stage of the treatment. It heats product within 15 minutes to a perfect delivery temperature and, once removed from the heat source, is portable with indicator lights to let the therapist know when it needs to be re-heated.

The ORB is a skincare product warmer that is big enough to hold sufficient product for an entire treatment, yet small enough to fit comfortably into the palm of the hand. It sits on a docking station to warm facial and body oils, serums, waxes or muds to the perfect temperature and can immediately upgrade treatments, giving a 'luxury' feel and allowing the therapist to spend 100% of the time concentrating on the client.
